Comments: Section 43 of Information Technology Act basically provides for civil liability as against criminal liability which is dealt with Chapter 11: Offences. Under this section you can claim for compensation before an Adjudication Officer appointed under section 46 of Information Technology Act, if any of the above acts listed under this Section have been committed against you... this includes unauthorized access to a computer, downloading/extraction of data as in JIO case, damage to a computer system, introduction of computer virus and so on. This remedy is in addition to any criminal liability you may have under Chapter 11.

News #1: A dropout from Rajasthan arrested in the Reliance JIO subscriber data leak matter

Reliance Jio owned by Mukesh Ambani had registered an FIR with the Navi Mumbai police under section 379 (theft) of the IPC and section 43 (2) (data theft - downloads, copies or extracts any data, computer data base or information from such computer, computer system or computer network including information or data held or stored in any removable storage medium) and 66 (computer related offences) of the Information Technology Act. In this respect, the Maharashtra police has arrested a computer course dropout from Rajasthan for allegedly leaking database of Reliance Jio customers on a website - Magicapk.com. He will be produced in a court in Rajasthan for transit remand and will then be brought to Navi Mumbai. Also, Forensic analysis is under way to find out if Jio's database has been leaked and how the accused managed to get his hands on the data.

Case # 1: Poona Auto Ancillaries Pvt. Ltd., Pune Versus Punjab National Bank, HO New Delhi & Others]

Summary: In 2013, in one of the largest compensation awarded in legal adjudication of a cyber crime dispute, Maharashtra's IT secretary Rajesh Aggarwal had ordered PNB to pay Rs 45 lakh to the Complainant Manmohan Singh Matharu, MD of Pune-based firm Poona Auto Ancillaries. A fraudster had transferred Rs 80.10 lakh from Matharu's account in PNB, Pune after Matharu responded to a phishing email. Complainant was asked to share the liability since he responded to the phishing mail but the Bank was found negligent due to lack of proper security checks against fraud accounts opened to defraud the Complainant.
